A Colossal Fossil.

A foreign exchange states that the body of a colossal rhinoceros has been discovered in the Werchlanick district, Siberia. It was found on the bank of a small tributary to the Yana river, and was laid bare by the action of the water. Like the mammoth washed ashore by the Lena river in 1793, it was remarkably well preserved, the skin being unbroken and covered with long hair. Unfortunately only the skull of this rare fossil has reached St. Petersburg, and a foot is said to be at Irkutsk, while the remainder was allowed to be washed away by the river soon after it had been discovered.

A paragraph writer on the Boston Post re-affirms the statement that necessity is the mother of invention. "Sometimes," he says, "we want the door between our office and the outside world closed, and the editor in that room of course feels, as we get up and shut it, that we are getting high-toned and exclusive, and it would him. And we don't like to do that, so we have invented a way to make him shut the door himself. We sing."

This is a cockroach. He is big, black and ugly. He is crawling over the pillow. Do not say a word, but lie still and keep your mouth open. He will crawl into it and you can bite him in two. This will teach him to be more discreet in future.

GENERAL HATCH'S CARD.

General A. J. Hatch complains that our history of the Nevada and Oregon railroad failed to do him justice. Not that we misrepresented him particularly, but that his valuable services to the road at a critical time were not detailed at proper length. The slight was unintentional, and we give space to-day to his story in his own words. He certainly did far more than his share and far more than anyone could have asked him to do in making the surveys and laying out the money he did. We thought at the time that his zeal was getting away with his judgement. His anxiety to serve Reno or else his desire to become a railroad king caused him to put his head under the axe. He not only spent his own money without any security from an entire stranger but he was one of the Board that signed the contract which is now so bitterly denounced. He finds fault with the GAZETTE for not making war on the road and on Moore's party instead of remaining neutral. He says that there is a great prejudice against them, and that it would be a very popular move. We still think, however, as we always have, that the road will be a great benefit to Reno, and that it will be much better for this country to allow it to be built than to try to defeat it. We can see nothing to be gained by keeping up a war on anyone who is working to develop the country.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The present condition of the mining suits is as follows: A Marysville Judge enjoined the miners, a Butte county Judge ordered the injunction served, a Nevada county Judge granted an injunction to prevent the Sheriff serving it, so the miners are still at work.

We have arranged with the Iowa Farmer Co., of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, (who are the publishers of one of the best farm papers in the west) to furnish their fine journal one year and our WEEKLY, for $3, and each one who subscribes under this offer, will receive, free, an elegant portrait of James A. Garfield.

W. H. A. Pike, of Stillwater talks of buying the Reese River Revue. He thinks he could build it up and make a newspaper of it.

If Judge Harris does not stop publishing poems in his Carson Index we shall feel it a duty to withdraw that friendly sympathy and forbearance which have gone so far towards making his life endurable.

The State gives a bounty of $2 a foot on every arctian wolf after it gets below 500 feet. This law should be amended to read 800 feet. Then it would do some good.

Mexican Matters.

CITY OF MEXICO, November 14. The Congress has approved the transfer made by General Frias to the Mexican Pacific Railway, and the Concession to the Yuma and Guaymas R. R. Co.

The official Government organ denies that the National railroad must withdraw from Guadalajara en route to the Pacific.

There has been another severe storm at Mazatlan. Several vessels anchored in the harbor were driven out to sea. Two schooners were beached, and two mts with petroleum destroyed. No lives lost.

Murder and suicide.

SANTA ROSA, November 14. The dead bodies of Mrs. Prince and Henry Osborne were found in a house at Marshall's Station this morning. From what can be learned, Osborne first killed Mrs. Prince with a flat-iron, as her head is all battered in and a bloody flat-iron was found on a floor by the side of her. He then took poison. Osborne was her hired man.

The Debris Question.

MARTINEVILLE, November 13. At a meeting of the anti-Debris Association at Yuba City, yesterday, a committee of fifteen was appointed to meet representative miners in convention at San Francisco in accordance with a recommendation of the Debris Committee. The Board of Trade Committee will leave for San Francisco next Wednesday.

Guiteau's Goid—A Crank Who Says It Is the Will of All the Living Gods That He Should Stay Goid in Six Days.

NEW YORK, November 14.

On October 15 an anonymous letter was sent to an editor on Wall street, asking that the enclosure be forwarded to Jay Gould, the well-known financier. The letter addressed to Gould was also anonymous, and reads as follows:

Windsor Hotel, October 15. Jay Gould, Esq., Sir:—It is my painful duty to inform you that within six days from the date of this letter your body will have returned to the dust from whence it came. I therefore entreat you to make your peace with God and prepare for the fate which awaits you. This is no wish of mine to take your life, but I am inspired and requested by all the living gods to do so, as a public necessity and for the benefit of the community at large. You must undoubtedly be aware that you have been a rogue of the first water all your life; that through your artful-cunning and deceit you have robbed thousands of people of their birth-right; you have had money; you have robbed rich and poor father and fatherless, widow and orphan indiscriminately of the last dollar, and through your villainy have brought ruin and destruction on thousands of families. All this you have done under the cloak, by circulating false reports, by buying newspapers, making false statements, committing perjury, and by artful cunning and deception; in fact, you have robbed both great and small, and now the Lord says you must pay for all. That your death is a public necessity in order to save thousands of others from pain and destruction. Your death will be an easy one, for I purpose shooting you through the heart if possible.

If my firstshot is not death, I will give the Coup de Grace with a second shot so that your death shall be quick and easy. Don't hold out any hope that this is a threatening letter, nor for stock jobbing purposes, for I do not own a single share of stock of any kind, neither am I interested in any. This is simply the will of God, and he has chosen me to carry this out. He has applied to me in a dream, and has requested me to slay you as a public necessity, and, in doing so, God has assured me it is by Divine providence I am chosen to do this act, and that by doing so I shall become a public benefactor. I intended to have shot you last Friday (yesterday), when I saw you with Dillon and Sage. I had my pistol ready and cocked, but a voice from the Lord banded in my ear, saying: "Hold on. Give him time to repent lest he descend into everlasting punishment." Now make your peace with God and prepare for the fate that awaits you, and may the Lord have mercy on your soul. When I reasoned with the Lord in my dream I told him my life would also be required of me, and I would be hanged. The Lord assured me that no harm would come to me. The rope was not made neither was the hemp grown to make a rope to hang me with. I have sworn by all the living Gods, the great Jehovah, and Redeemer of the world, and taken a solemn oath, and kissed the Holy Bible, that I will carry it out within six days from this date, if opportunity occurs. Therefore be prepared to meet your fate at any moment, and may God have mercy on your soul.

I remain, sir,

AN OLD VICTIM.

The Crank Arrested.

NEW YORK, November 14. The matter of the anonymous Gould letter was immediately placed in the hands of detectives and they succeeded yesterday in arresting the man just after he had posted another letter to Gould. He gives the name of J. Howard Welles. He admitted his guilt, but would say nothing further, and was much concerned over his arrest. Gould will prosecute Welles.

Washington News.

NEW YORK, November 13. A Times Washington correspondent thinks it highly probable that Elihu Root will succeed Colonel Corbitt, though the Tribune denies it and says the story is absurd.

It is understood that the President will formally accept Mac Veagh's resignation to-morrow, and that Solicitor General Phillips will be designated to act as Attorney-General until the President is prepared to name successors to such of the present members of the Cabinet as he proposes to supersede.

The Coming Mill.

NEW YORK, November 14. Frank White of New York, and George Holden of England, pugilists, who are matched to fight on Wednesday at Long Point, Canada, for $5,000 and the feather-weight championship of America, started for the battle ground last evening on the Erie road.

Terrific Explosion.

EAST SAGINAW, Mich., Nov. 14. Ten boilers at the extensive lumber and salt manufactory of Hamilton and McClure, six miles below this city, exploded this morning, wrecking property to the extent of $25,000, and killing four firemen. The debris was scattered in every direction, pieces coming down half a mile distant.

Commencement of the Guiteau Trial.

WASHINGTON, November 14. Judge Cox's Court room was crowded this morning. District Attorney Corbitt, Porter of New York, and Davidge, of Washington, appeared for the prosecution, and Scoville and Leight Robinson for the defense.

Robinson then made a plea for still more time which did not meet the approval of Guiteau. All the time Robinson was speaking, Guiteau was carrying on what appeared to be a remonstrance with Scoville, who was apparently trying to quiet and suppress him.

At the close of Robinson's speech Guiteau insisted on being heard. He said he was not aware of a postponement was to be requested. He desired to be heard in his own behalf at the very threshold of the case. So far as he was concerned he did not want further time; he was ready to try the case now. Owing to the opposition of Scoville and the prisoner to the application of Robinson for an extension of time, the Court stated that for the present the case should proceed as far, at least, as the seating of the jury was concerned, and they would consider the question of extension afterwards.

Guiteau was brought into the courtroom by the marshal and his deputies. He looked much better physically and otherwise than when he last appeared. He was at once relieved of his handcuffs and took his seat beside his sister, Mrs. Scoville.

The three jurors first presented were disqualified. In examining jurors Scoville went over a large range of questions as to religious and political belief.

WASHINGTON, November 14. Guiteau's performance in Court to-day seem to have convinced a few persons that he is really crazy, but the general impression is that he overdid his acting.

The jurors have been obtained and sworn in. Their names and occupations are as follows: John P. Harlin, restaurant keeper; Fred W. Bronson, cigar-maker; Charles G. Stewart, flour and feed dealer; Henry J. Bright, retired from business; Thomas Langley, grocer.

What Guiteau Says.

WASHINGTON, November 14.

Guiteau declared yesterday that his friends need have no concern about the result of his trial, "for," said he, "the Lord will take care of me. You must not give yourselves any trouble about this. I mean to have men come to time. I mean Conkling, Grant and Arthur. I made Garfield what he was and I mean to have the Court decide whether Guiteau or the Lord fired the bullet. Why, when Judge Cox hears my speech he will do what I ask as the inspiration of God." Here the prisoner wanted to recite his speech. He declared he would not allow anything to be brought up except to show that his act was that of God.

A Creek Runs into a Mine.

CHICAGO, November 14.

On Friday night the bed of Prairie Creek broke through and flooded one of the mines of the Chicago, Wilmington & Vermilion Coal Company at Streator, this State. The hole thus made is about 200 by 400 feet. Only four men were working in the mine when the break occurred, and all of them escaped. The loss to the Company is $100,000.

Death of Mrs. Edwin Booth.

NEW YORK, November 14.

Mary Frances McVicker, wife of Edwin Booth, died at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the residence of her parents, No. 13 West Fifty-third street. The remains will be taken to Chicago for interment.

Dillon's Palace.

NEW YORK, November 14.

Sidney Dillon is about building on Fifth Avenue and Seventy-sixth street, the most magnificent private residence on the continent, if not in the world, far surpassing the Vanderbilt and Stewart mansions and covering thirteen city city lots.

MacVeagh Steps Down.

WASHINGTON, November 14.

Attorney-General MacVeagh took formal leave of the Department of Justice this morning, and left this afternoon for Philadelphia.

FOREIGN.

Outrages in Ireland.

DUBLIN, November 14.

An armed band dragged a farmer named Gavin from his bed in Castle Island, County Kerry, and questioned him. Gavin acknowledged having paid his rent, whereupon he was freed at five times and severely wounded.

A party of twenty miscreants attacked the house of a man named Curran, at Mt. Maria, near Killybeggin. They beat Curran, dragged his wife out of bed, and compelled Curran to swear to stop proceedings against tenants under notice.

The Rent Question in Ireland.

DUBLIN, November 14.

The experience of extensive land agents is that rents are being paid in Sligo, Roscommon, parts of Galway, Limerick, Queen's County and Kilkenny, but in Wexford, Clara, Kerry, parts of Cork, and other counties, there is a general determination not to pay. The Killen tenants of the Earl of Cork repudiate and condemn the recent outrages on his estates.

The government contemplates a fourth temporary sub-commission under the Act.

More Fenians in London.

LONDON, November 14.

A party searched the house of one Tobin, who recently escaped arrest under the charge of assaulting the police and suspected of being a Fenian. They seized a box containing a large number of new revolvers and cartridges and books and documents connected with the Fenian and land league movements.

Mr. Strauss, of Cincinnati, recently rescued two friends who fell in the water; thus proving the truth of the old saying, "Drowning men catch at straws."

GENERAL HATCH'S CARD.

He Gives His Reasons for Retiring from the Presidency of the Nevada & Oregon, Etc.

EDITOR GAZETTE: I accept the gratuitous offer of the use of your columns to correct portions of your article referring to me in connection with the N. & O. R. R. Co., published in the GAZETTE of the 4th instant, with some degree of reluctance, because I have been impressed with the belief that the GAZETTE was the defender and champion of the N. & O., Moore and company, and not particularly friendly to me. Your brief and not particularly favorable remarks on my connection with the N. & O. in your "History" (the article above referred to), tends to strengthen my convictions in that respect.

You were a member of the Board of Directors of the N. & O. before and after I withdrew from it, and must know why I severed my connection with it. With the knowledge of the facts I am about to recite fresh in your memory, I was surprised that you failed to do me simple justice by ignoring them. I am not disposed to be captious in this matter, nor am I anxious to figure in newspaper correspondence. I only wish to be fairly dealt with before the public, particularly in connection with the N. & O. R. R. Co. That portion of your history having any particular reference to me reads as follows:

"Woods left here in January to help him (Moore) and stayed two months. They came out here in April and found everything going wrong. Hatch had got tired and was trying to break up the old company and organize a new one. He had thrown up his subscription and sued the company for his bill for surveying and his salary as President."

That bit of history should be corrected to read as follows:

"Woods and Moore came out here in April without any money to go on with the work, as usual, and found everything going wrong—Thomas Moore and his contract. Hatch had got tired of carrying Moore and of putting up money for Moore's enterprise, while Moore himself had never put up a single dollar of his own or any else's money, except for his personal expenses. Another company of local capitalists was being formed and were willing to assume Hatch's bill against the old company in case the old company failed to raise any money except from Reno subscribers and creditors, to go on with the work. Hatch had thrown up his subscription by advice of his attorneys, and when Woods and Moore arrived here with lots of check but with no money to go on with the work, Hatch sued and attached what there was in sight for cash paid out, responsibilities assumed, labor and services performed, and for acting as general agent and business manager, superintendent, financier, chief engineer, treasurer, book-keeper, and for carrying the whole brunt of the business, financially and otherwise, from July, 1880, to February, 1881, and not for his salary as President."

Having made the above correction, with your permission I will proceed in a desultory way with some of the details which seem to be required in order to amplify the foregoing. Moore had confidently asserted that all necessary funds to carry on the work would in due time come from the East; that, in fact, he could command millions. His contract called for large local subscriptions, but he did not seem to expect the full amount would be raised here. He wanted all the subscriptions the country started at once, so Davis and McCannan undertook the work south and I the work north. Davis soon after withdrew from the company and left McCannan in the lurch. McCannan had a little money and soon spent it all on the work. Davis would supply no more money. Moore turned a deaf ear to Mc's entreaty to furnish even a small amount, and finally the whole burden fell upon me. I have expended several thousand dollars in cash and become personally responsible for several thousand more of the indebtedness in carrying on the engineering of the proposed line of railroad from Bodie to the Oregon line, including the Virginia branch, some four hundred and twenty miles. I had no financial assistance in carrying on this work except what McCannan expended of his own money, ($375 of which I repaid him) and perhaps $250 by John T. Davis. Such expenditure amounted to nearly $14,000. Interest and costs accrued since brings it to about $15,000. I expended on the work all the money I could raise, and as most of the men would not work unless I would agree to become personally responsible for their pay, the burden was thereby increased. I became seriously embarrassed by so doing and appealed to the company and to Thomas Moore to assist me. The Directors tried to raise money at the bank of Paxton, Curtis & Co. and failed. Woods and Moore urged me to mortgage my property to raise the needed sum, (about $5,000) but I refused to do so. Finally I was driven to the extremity of hypothecating my official salary at a considerable discount to raise funds to keep the survey going.

In January last I wrote Thomas Moore that it was impossible to raise money on subscription; that the board was unable to raise money in any way; that I had personally gone to the end of my rope; that I was then in financial jeopardy, and that unless he could relieve me I would be obliged to commence suit and attach the merger property of the company, (consisting at that time of the profiles, maps, grade-stakes, and about a mile of graded road-bed.) Moore replied, "If attachment must come, (which God forbid) save my interest." Yet at this time Thomas Moore had not put up a single dollar!

Moore further answered, in substance, that the company must finance and pay their own indebtedness out of their own subscriptions; that it was an outrage to call on him for money that the company was owing him; that the company was bound to pay him $300 as one of the preliminary terms of his contract, and that the amount must be forwarded to him at Elizabeth, New Jersey. There were other insulting demands and expressions in Moore's letters which were read to the board, whereupon the board expressed very proper and explicit indignation.

About this time it was thought an attack would be made on the franchise, on account of the non payment of the ten per cent. required by law to be paid to a temporary treasurer, in good faith, but which was really paid in checks drawn against an imaginary deposit in a popular banking house, and although Moore was apprised of this by the board he never paid any attention to it.

Then (in February, 1881) came the sensational letters and telegrams from Woods and Moore, saying: "All progressing favorably about the franchise subscriptions; '$30,000 subscribed here; $250,000 in bank.' Moore is coming beelied with coin to go on with the work."

Then came Moore's second supplementary wily drawn contract, signed by Woods in New York, the terms of which released Moore from paying any of the indebtedness of the company, but requiring the company to pay its own indebtedness and to settle with contractor Moore in full for all his claim for grading, etc., to February 20th, and requiring the company after that date to "deposit in such bank as he might designate, immediately after the receipt thereof, all moneys, checks or drafts obtained from payments of stock subscriptions, the same to be held inviolate to provide for any and all payments under the contract with the party of the first part" (Thomas Moore), thus practically depriving the company from paying its indebtedness at all. This contract was sent here to the Board with a demand that it be ratified at once. Then, of course, I bucked. I refused, as President, to call a meeting of the Board to ratify a contract that took the money (should it ever get any) out of the hands of the company to pay Moore on his contract and to prevent it from paying the debts already contracted, amounting, at that time (including some work and material furnished Moore), to some $30,000, and leaving the company as denounced by Woods and Moore as being an "obstructionist." They were correct. I always became an obstructionist whenever a thief puts his hand in my pocket and attempts to steal my purse. The company's attorney was consulted, and through some misrepresentation as to his advice the contract was finally ratified at a meeting held in the back end of a caboose car standing on the track near the Depot Hotel.

Following the contract in hot haste came the mortgage (another clincher). As President of the Company I hesitated to sign a mortgage on the whole line of the road, and which might possibly deprive the creditors of the Company, myself included, from ever recovering the money we had expended for Thomas Moore's benefit. The property of executing the mortgage was thoroughly discussed by the Board, and after consulting our attorney it was decided to execute it, and forward it through Paxton, Curtis & Co.'s banking house of Lorillard & Co., New York, to be held by them in Escrow for $30,000 for thirty days. ($30,000 being the estimated amount of indebtedness of the company at that time.) And if not paid at the end of the thirty days the mortgage was to be returned through Paxton Curtis & Co. to the Company. Moore and his Eastern Elongation failed or refused to pay any attention to the demand. The mortgages came back in due time and about a week later came Moore and Woods, apparently without anything but cheek to build the railroad. Having learned this, I immediately attached the field notes, profiles, maps and the grade stakes, and about a mile of graded roadbed.

At this time there appeared but little prospect of Moore building the road. There had been but very little money paid in on local subscriptions; not more than three or four hundred dollars; two hundred dollars of this had been given to Woods for expenses east in January, the balance going for some similar purpose. After February 20th all moneys collected were to go to Moore on his contract. Since then one of the original indebtedness has been paid by the company. The company has had no money to pay with, nor can it have according to Moore's contract. When money comes in he seizes it "according to contract."

When the directors want to pay out money on the original indebtedness Moore objects, and says in substance, "this money is mine, according to contract." Moore says he has advised the company time and time again to pay my bill, but they won't do it. The company, that is the members of the board, say they would pay me, but Moore takes all the money as soon as it comes in "according to contract." So there seems to be little prospect of creditors' claims, anti-dating Moore's second supplementary contract, being paid. That is a very convenient contract of Moore's, and it seems to work just as he intended it should. It is a sort of Jeremy Diddler style of doing business.

Heads, I win; tails you lose? What Moore needs of a board of directors I am unable to see, unless it is to stand off the old creditors. I understand that there is still twenty or twenty-five thousand dollars of the old indebtedness unpaid. I have never received one dollar from Moore or the company, but I shall get it.

I am charged with "trying to break up the company." I did, when I found Moore & Company would break me up if I staid with that outfit much longer.

The organization of a company of local capitalists came near being a success. Had it succeeded it would have paid off all the original indebtedness, including my claim. It would evidently have been much better for this community had it succeeded, but through the efforts of Judge Wheeler, Moore succeeded in borrowing $30,000 for a few days on which to reorganize and make good the N. & O. franchise, and the local capitalists company retired into ignominious oblivion, and everybody but Moore and his followers said it was a shame.

The assertion that the V. & T., or Yerrington & Co., had anything to do with the formation of the local capital-

I call special attention to this line, and can convince everybody that I keep the Finest and Largest assortment in that line in the State.

Price List:

AS TO PRICES IN CLOAKS AND DOLMANS, IT IS SIMPLY A humbug. I may put in the paper to sell Cloaks or Dolmans or Ulsters for $7.50, worth $15, but no lady can tell from that whether the garment is cheap or not; she does not know whether it is all wool or all cotton, or what the color is, or it may be some shape that has gone out of style. The only correct way is to examine the ists' new company is false.

The proposition was that it should be formed of ten subscribers to the capital stock, each stockholder to put up $10,000 in coin, no more and no less. One party wanted to put up $30,000, and some of the other stockholders did not believe he was able to do it. It was undoubtedly a case of jealousy, and to beat the $20,000 man the story was started that he was backed by Yerrington; so the $30,000 capitalist drew out just about the time Moore made the $30,000 raise, and the new firm busted.

My claim consists of cash paid out for labor and services performed, and for engineers and assistants' accounts assigned to me, and not, as has been stated, for salary as President.

It has been audited and recommended for payment, with the exception of the bill of the former secretary, some $600 on which I had advanced and which account had been assigned to me. For my services the auditor thought I had not charged enough. The whole bill has recently been declared valid and correct by a majority of the Board of Directors.

I hope I have succeeded in establishing the fact that my claim is not illegal or fraudulent. Without my money and assistance Moore would have failed in the beginning; but with it, and with the timely assistance of Judge Wheeler he has overcome many difficulties, and will doubtless succeed and make a great deal of money. I have no objection. His Company or Board of Directors will not make as much because Moore and his contract takes advantage of everything. He has taken advantage of my liberality, but he could not beat me. I shall eventually gain the suit and get the money, which is mine. He will undoubtedly be sad to part with it, although it was never his to lose. As to my subscription of $10,000, I will say I subscribed as others did, to help the enterprise along, all had the right to increase or diminish their subscriptions or to withdraw them at will. My attorneys informed me that it would be necessary for me to resign as President and Director, and to withdraw my subscription in order to commence suit. I did so; and do not regret it. I thank you for the valuable space you have so generously accorded me. Yours truly, A. J. HATCH.

PERSONAL

J. J. Linn has gone to Eureka.

G. W. Mylert, of Quincy, is here.

Colonel Moore is in San Francisco.

Judge Borman, of Verdi, is in Reno.

George Huscroft and E. W. Crutcher, well-known stock men, are in the metropolis.

Descon Parkinson, the pioneer of journalism at the State Capital, ornamented our fashionable streets yesterday.

R. P. Chapin left Northeast Pennsylvania to-day for New York City. He is engaged in mercantile pursuits in that region.

Chas. Kahlo of Indiana, the new Consul to Sidney, Australia, passed West this morning. He is an old schoolmate of the Evans brothers.

Nevada News.

There are about 80 white men and 60 Chinamen now at work on the C. & C. R. R., and rapid progress is being made.

A rich strike is reported in the Sprague mine, Mason valley. It is also reported that smelting will begin about the first of the month.

There are several convicts in the State Prison who invest their earnings in literature of a high order, such as the North American Review, etc.

The San Francisco Daily Report says: Hon. James G. Fair, United States Senator from Nevada, will leave for Washington some time this month, and will be present at the opening of Congress on the first Monday in December.

Alvin Joslin.

Parties who have seen Charles L. Davis elsewhere are loud in their praise and endorse the following from the Chicago Times: "The quaint but good-natured character of the shrewd New England farmer finds several representatives upon the contemporary stage, and among them the Alvin Joslin of Charles L. Davis deserves a reputable place. There is much in it that is amusing and not a little in it that is original. The audiences have been well pleased with the humor and eccentricity of the character, and constant laughter has been the well-earned reward of the comedian."

An Ogden Sensation.

Ogden was the scene of a tragedy last Saturday. A man came from Montana and bought a ticket for Memphis, Tenn. Then he bought two bottles of laudanum and went to his room. He swallowed the laudanum, and sending for Beardsley, the proprietor, confessed that he killed a man before he left the states. Doctors were sent for and the man pumped out. Telegrams were sent and answers were received stating that there was a reward of three hundred dollars for the man. He is now in jail. These facts came from the Sheriff.

Incendiary Fire at Verdi.

Last night Verdi had its usual scare from the firebrand. The villain, whoever he may have been, carefully gathered the splinters from a woodpile and built a bonfire against one end of Judge Borman's barn. The blaze was discovered in time or the entire town would have gone. Somebody has determined upon putting an end to Verdi, and the citizens there have determined to put an end to the incendiary whenever he is found.

The Strike at Pyramid.

The Roma Union mine at Pyramid is looking very well. The ledge was tapped after running 508 feet, and the crosscut has been in ore ever since and has now pierced the ledge for a distance of fourteen feet. The ledge looks healthy, and will assay well. The management will continue the crosscut until the foot wall is reached. The GAZETTE likes to see energy and pluck rewarded.

Big Running.

The overland was fourteen hours late on account of snow on the Union Pacific. It made the fastest time last night on record from Wells to Winnemucca, beating the Jarrett and Palmer train a full day. They made forty-eight miles an hour, and once ran seven miles in eight minutes.

Runaway.

Wm. Steele's team took fright at the cars this morning and ran away. They did not stop until the home station on the meadows was reached, and the trip was made at an entire cost of $20, which was cheap.

The Effect of Indulgence

in strong drink can be removed from the system by Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure.

JOTTINGS.

Message in the office for J. Strong. Give F. Bosch a call. Read his ad. Sam Latta had his hand jammed between the cars on Thursday.

Read I. Frederick's special notices. Wm. Hoffman has a notice in the GAZETTE's columns. Read it. McClellan is painting Drilton a transparency for the Palace restaurant.

There are now three carriers on the GAZETTE, and everybody gets his paper hot.

Reno Chinamen are driving a good trade in plugging up holes in silver money. They do it very neatly, but it looks like lead.

A lot of the delayed iron for the N. & O. R. R. has arrived and was unloaded to-day. The sound of the spike driver will soon be heard.

We defy anyone to get the same amount of comfort out of the same amount of money any other place in town, as you can at the Wine House, Commercial Row.

Dame rumor has it that Dr. Haas and Mr. George Conkling will produce an original play some time during December, in which the best local talent will appear.

The thermometer is entitled to the gratitude of every man in the county. It made a flowery play at spring today; 63, 63, 64, 64. Chelmsford note, letter and legal paper at Nasby's Bazaar.

"I too have caught the fever," said Harvey B. F. Keller, recorder of deeds, Ottawa, Kansas, "and have long been convinced of the merits of the St. Jacobs Oil. The principal use to which the Oil has been devoted in my family has been for rheumatism, which disease it subdues with wonderful quickness."

About 200 head of fine steers were shipped yesterday to San Francisco by Bradensteln & Co., who have also about 200 head more on the way here for shipment next week.

The Ditch Case.

The case of Ah Quong et al vs. The Steamboat Ditch Company was argued and submitted on Friday last in the U. S. Circuit Court at Carson. The GAZETTE hopes the farmers may be victorious in this matter, for they have had a precious rascal to deal with in the person of Ah Quong.

Arizona has a curious vegetable production in the fruit of the Cereus giganteus, which is gathered by the Indians and the Mexicans. The tree grows from forty to sixty feet high, and the fruit is gathered with poles, with a fork and a look at the end. The juice is expressed for molasses and stored in earthenware jars; the pulp is pressed for winter bread.
